BIG HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION IS BEING ARRANGED FOR CHARLEROI NEXT MONDAY

Fantastic and Civic Parade Will be Feature, and It is Expected That a Large Number Will Take Part.

VALUABLE PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

Plans for holding a big Halloween celebration are being made at which there will be plenty of good, solid enjoyment, and not the usual heavy destruction of property. The celebration by agreement will be held on Monday evening, and a big parade will be a feature.

The movement towards holding such an affair was started yesterday at the suggestion of some of the business men of town. Both Saturday and Monday were considered as good dates, but the latter was finally selected as the more suitable, from various reasons. Halloween comes on Sunday this year and the celebration of the day had either to be put off a day or held ahead of time.

The feature of the celebration will be the parade. It will be both fantastic and civic, and if plans do not miscarry, will be a large one. It is planned to have the Charleroi Fire Department in line in their parade uniforms and the various Boys' Brigades. Any one may get in line; and it is desired to have all those in fantastic costumes and makeups to participate. In all probability there will be one or more bands secured, and prizes will be awarded to the persons who will be the best dressed.

There will be a general committee to have charge of the affair, consisting in all probability of George W. Might, John D. Berryman and J. W. McKean. A finance committee, of which John B. Schafer will be the chairman will secure funds, with which to pay the necessary expenses of the celebration.

The committees named above will get to work as soon as possible towards getting matter in shape, and make the celebration the largest affair of the kind ever held in the valley. There was never any attempt at a Halloween celebration conducted in a systematic way in Charleroi, and it is much desired that this first attempt be a success. If this first affair can be made successful, it is likely that it will be made an annual affair, of the same nature as Monongahela's New Year's celebration.

The prizes that will be awarded for the best and most fantastically dressed will be valuable ones, and such as to inspire the various persons.

RIPPED HIS WIFE'S CLOTHES WITH RAZOR

While drunk, J. P. Anderson of Monessen secured a razor, and ripped his wife's clothing all to pieces, except the one wrapper which she had on. He was sentenced to jail by Burgess Reamer of Monessen this morning for 30 days. The man's wife and a neighbor woman appeared against him. Anderson was arrested on the streets yesterday by Officer Zimmers on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. No information was made by his wife, she appearing merely as a witness.

BURGESS G. W. RISBECK ISSUES PROCLAMATION FOR OBSERVANCE OF HALLOWE'EN IN CHARLEROI

Good Natured and Harmless Fun Allowed, But Boisterousness and Rowdiness Tabooed—Gates to be Let Alone

Burgess Geo. W. Risbeck has issued the following edict regarding the celebration of Halloween on Monday night, November 1, as October 31 falls on Sunday this year:

To the Public:

As Halloween falls on Sunday this year, Monday, November 1, is hereby designated as the date when public demonstrations in observance of the occasion may be made on the streets of Charleroi. On that date the public will be permitted to parade and otherwise use the streets and other public places and to join in a carnival of good natured and harmless fun. No boisterousness, rowdiness or mischief will be permitted and any infringements along this line will meet with prompt arrest by the police and special detective force that will be employed for the occasion.

Warning is also given that all mischief, such as removing signs, gates outhouses, walks or other property or obstructing streets or alleys or any vandalism will be rigidly prosecuted. In addition to the police force from seven to ten plain clothes detectives will mingle with the crowd who will promptly arrest all offenders who will be given the limit of the law. Special watch will also be kept from this time on or those who deface windows walls and other property with chalk, soap or anything else, and all offenders caught will meet with prompt arrest and fine.

The public is invited to turn out and enjoy themselves Monday night and to co-operate with the police in maintaining order and decorum. By observing the spirit and letter of the law the people of Charleroi can unite in an evening of enjoyment which will carry with it no disagreeable after effects.

CHARLEROI PEOPLE ASK FOR DIVORCE

Many Couples Desire to Part—Commissioner is Appointed.

Hugh Fergal, Esq., of Charleroi, has been appointed commissioner to take testimony in the divorce suit of Sarah Rebecca Stroud, vs. Berton Stroud, both of Charleroi. The action was taken yesterday at Washington.

The court has signed a decree in divorce in the suit of Nettie C. Sarver, against John W. Sarver, directing that the respondent pay the libellant $100 counsel fee, $135 for her support and maintenance heretofore, and $25 a week hereafter for her maintenance.

Alverda Logan seeks separation from her husband, Leo L. Logan, former chief of police at Monongahela, infidelity being alleged. Goldie Brown being named as correspondent.

Carrie Jackson has filed suit against John Jackson of Charleroi alleging cruel and barbarous treatment, and Amelia Rodgers Dehainant against Gustave Dehainant, alleging desertion. A divorce suit from Monongahela is that of Mary H. Abbott, vs. John Abbott, it being alleged that he is serving a three year term in the penitentiary.

COMPANY TRYING TO FORESTALL STRIKES

It is stated the Liggett Spring and Axle works, across the river from Monongahela, is about to install a mammoth company store to furnish good to their employees at wholesale prices. By keeping down the cost of living to their employees it is thought that strikes for higher wages may be averted.

JACK THE PEEPER WORKS IN MONESSEN

Foreigner is Arrested for Looking in Window of American Home.

Jack the Peeper, in the person of Pete Galori, a foreigner of Monessen, was arrested by the police at that place last night, as he was prowling around the yard of William Robinson on Schoonmaker avenue. The man was peeping in the windows and acting generally strange. This morning he was taken before Burgess Reamer for a hearing and frightened by the appearance of the court, admitted that he was looking for his girl. Burgess Reamer remarked that it was rather strange for a man to be looking in an American's windows for his foreign girl, and advised him to get married. Galori was discharged.

GREENE COUNTY HAS ANOTHER BIG BOY

Part of Commonwealth That Produced Pat Bane Brings Forth Another.

Stanley Wight of Wind Ridge, Greene county is being hailed as the savior of that county. That is savior of records. Pat Bane was born there some time in the years past, although he is now a resident of Washington county, and now his successor to fame as being the champion tall man appears in the person of the one named above, 20 years old, and seven feet tall stocking feet. This youngster weighs 270 pounds and to balance the whole massive structure has feet that take No. 14 shoes. He also had a Boston head, wearing a 7 3-4 hat. Wright is particular about his coming politics, and promises to follow the Democratic policies to the bitter end.

DRUM'S COUNSEL WITHDRAWS APPEAL

Said That California Man Will Make Restitution to Bank

WARD'S APPEAL HELDOVER

Counsel for Clifford H. Drum, who was recently convicted in the Washington county courts of conspiracy with intent to defraud the Coal Centre bank, yesterday afternoon in Superior Court at Philadelphia asked that Drum be allowed to withdraw his appeal to the higher court, and the court granted the petition.

The counsel in asking for the withdrawal said that an agreement had been reached with the Commonwealth that if Drum make restitution of $6,000 the case would be dropped; that restitution had been made and it was now the desire to withdraw the appeal. In the appeal of Ward, the man convicted with Drum, a motion was made and allowed to continue the case until December, it being stated that the question of restitution applied also to him.

BROTHERHOOD TO MEET TONIGHT

A public meeting of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian Brotherhood will be held in the Washington Avenue church this evening, at which time Rev. O. M. Wilson, of Pittsburg will speak. The meeting will be convened at 8 o'clock and is one of the usual monthly gatherings of the brotherhood. There will be special music consisting of selections by a male quartet, chorals and songs. A social session will be held following the rendition of the regular program. An invitation is extended to the public in general in which ladies are included.

SHOWING BASEBALL GAMES AT PALACE

Last night Charleroi went practically baseball mad over the life motion pictures of the first world's championship series game between the Pittsburg National and the Detroit American league teams at the Palace Theatre. Manager R. L. Barnhart had considerable trouble in securing the films, owing to the heavy demands for them, and only got them for the one night. Instead of holding three shows he gave five and every one drew a packed house.

The pictures were fine portrayals of features of the great game at Forbes Field, Pittsburg, and the still greater crowd that attended. Both teams were shown in practice, and the heroes of the Pirates, Honus Wagner, Clark, Babe Adams and others elicited hearty applause as their well known physiognomies in various stages of the game were portrayed. Ty Cobb, as well as Hugh Jennings, were also favorites. One of the striking pictures was the meeting of Wagner and Cobb for the first time on the field.

Clark's home run was shown as well as many individual plays on the field. The vast crowd departing wound up the series which were most interesting and heartily applauded by the big audiences who saw them.

There has been an interesting program arranged, of music and addresses and officers will be elected, for the group. The principal address of the evening will be by Rev. Claude Kelley.

ROSCOE COUNCIL MUST GET DOWN TO BUSINESS AT ONCE

Three Cars Broken Open and Looted

Burglars Operate at California Early Monday Morning

Pennsylvania Railroad detectives are trying to locate persons who early Monday broke open three cars on the siding at California, and took therefrom some clothing, two and a half cases of beer and other articles. The burglary was evidently perpetrated in the early morning, and from evidences the burglars had plenty of time to secure all they wanted, and get away.

DECISION AFFIRMED BY SUPREME COURT

Zollner-Moffitt Case Comes Up Before Higher Bench

Judgement was affirmed yesterday by the Supreme Court in the suit of B. A. Zollner vs. John H. Moffitt, appellant. The suit which grows out of the sales of Zollner's real estate business here, was to recover on a note for $2,000 with interest. The suit was first tried in this county in February, 1908, and a verdict returned for the defendant. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, which, reversed the finding of the local court, and sent the case back for retrial. The case was tried last spring, and a verdict returned for Zollner.

GOOD SERVICE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Dr. Huston Begins Second Day of Evangelistic Meetings.

The revival services at the Christian church, under direction of Evangelist Frank C. Huston, are attracting the attention of many of the citizens outside of church people. Prof. Huston is one of the most able of composers and last evening sang his famous, "It Pays to Serve Jesus." This composition was given to the world only about six months ago, but during that time has gained recognition throughout the United States and Canada. It was one of the most popular songs of the Centennial Convention at Pittsburg.

Prof. Huston deserves the hearing of every one in Charleroi interested in sacred song. His visit to Charleroi is an opportunity along the musical line seldom had in this community.

QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER ON FRIDAY EVENING

Nothing more artistically and financially successful has been done for a number of seasons in the way of dramatizing a popular novel than that of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the widely read New England story, which for over six years now has continued to be one of the best selling books in this country. "Quincy Adams Sawyer" in play form will be seen in all the elaborate shows of its five country scenes next Friday night at the Coyle Theatre.

Judge McIlvaine Issues Pre-emptory Mandamus Upon Members

HEARING WAS BRIEF ONE

Little Time Consumed by Court in Sensational Affair from Up River

A peremptory mandamus was granted by the court yesterday upon the council at Roscoe, compelling the members to meet on Wednesday evening, November 3, and such times there after as necessary for the performing of the business. If they fail to do this the members of council, George Brown, Alf Thomas, Criss Galle, M. Collins, Samuel Wick and Nelson McKenna, will be haled into court to answer the charge of contempt.

The action against the Roscoe councilmen was brought in the name of the Commonwealth upon the suggestion and complaint of John Werton, John A. Morrison and John Porter. The members of the council have been at loggerheads ever since it came together last March. In the meantime the borough has been running along without practically any transaction of borough business. Judge McIlvaine heard the case, which was a very brief one.

CONCERT COMPANY IS A BIG FEATURE

Course an Attraction of Much Merit

The first number on the Citizens' Entertainment course was given last night at School Hall, when the Gertrude Miller Concert company appeared. The company consisted of four artists, every one of whom had reached the top notch of perfection in their particular line.

Miss Miller herself was the reader, and to say that she showed talent and adaptability is putting it mildly indeed. She was recalled time after time by the audience. While pathos and humor were richly blended, throughout the program, a travesty on New York society high life, depicting a girl's debut, was possibly the best received.

With Miss Miller were Paul V. Archibald, baritone, Miss Ida Miller Smith, mezzo-soprano, and Francois Jores, pianist. Mr. Archibald has a splendid voice, and knows how to use it to the best advantage. The same may be said of Miss Smith, who is indeed a singer of ability. The duets of these two were much enjoyed. The work of the pianist, Mr. Jores was the occasion for many tributes to his ability. His presentation of an etude for the left hand was marvelous.

The next number on the course will be on November 26, when Dr. Edward T. Hagerman, the noted lecturer, will appear.

Brought Big Results.

"Booster Week" at Monongahela, which terminated last Saturday, was productive of surprising results. The "Booster" stores realized in trade beyond the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of new customers were gained and the town profited generally by the effort.

Pull Down the Blinds.

If women were more particular about pulling down the blinds of their houses after dark there would not be so many burglaries. Is the timely warning issued by Police Supt. McQuaid of Pittsburgh. By revealing the lighted interior of their homes to watchful thieves and porch climbers outside, this lack of precaution makes the work of the crooks easy. Not only do the latter learn the plan of the house, but they locate valuable plunder as well as to see and know the inmates of the house. Supt. McQuaid particularly warns women to pull down the blinds of the dining room, as those outside can easily see who are at the table and observe their habits. Women's dressing rooms are also closely watched. Many a woman thinks because her dressing room opens on a back or side alley that privacy is not necessary, but Chief McQuaid says these are the places that thieves locate and watch most closely. Through the lighted windows they observe where a woman's jewelry and trinkets are kept, and many thefts are cleverly executed by information thus gained.

It is a common sight in riding on street cars after night to see the lighted interiors of the homes along the routes. These are an easy mark for the "yeggars," who at this season of the year are beginning to be most active. To repeat Supt. McQuaid's warning, "Pull down the blinds."

An Important Election.

In the face of many disquieting circumstances attending the revival of industry and trade, it is most important that these should be allayed in order that the era of prosperity that is now under way should not be interrupted. For this reason the election next Tuesday is an important one. A substantial Republican victory at this particular time will do much to restore the confidence that is lacking, because of the attitude of the west on the tariff question, and pave the way for renewed and more extended industry.

It is therefore important that all Republicans turn out at this election and cast their ballots for the ticket. A decided victory this fall will do much to remove the agitation next year, which will be most disquieting to business, if permitted to gain headway. A light vote this fall will encourage the opponents of protection to redouble their efforts which will only halt business and industry until the matter can be again threshed out in Congress. A decisive victory for the principles of Republicanism that are so essential to the industries of Pennsylvania will give a greater impetus to the prosperous era that is in store for us.

Hallowe'en.

Charleroi has decided to have a public celebration of Hallowe'en next Monday night. A committee of business men are promoting the affair and from an unorganized rabble of noisy roisterers which has hitherto marked the observance of this time honored festival, the carnival spirit will be directed along organized and orderly lines. By this means more fun and enjoyment may be derived from the annual observance of this self-constituted holiday night.

Many towns have adopted the organized carnival spirit for Hallowe'en with a marked saving to property of the citizens. The ancient custom of devoting the night to pranks and hilarity was perverted by trying to stop it altogether, and this resulted in surreptitious mischief and devilry. It is stated that something is lacking in the human diet which makes men want to drink whisky, use tobacco or take drugs, and the same might be applied in the matter of deportment. Unless the bonds of established conventionality can be loosed in a rational way occasionally, the relaxation is apt to be made surreptitiously at times and places not at all conducive to the well being of all concerned. Therefore license to break the bounds of so-called propriety once in awhile supplies a marked deficiency in the make-up of all mankind and is beneficial all around.

The women's suffrage movement is likely to extend to the bachelor population just as soon as they get a few pretty unmarried ladies interested in the scheme.

Beatrice Fairfax says this is a pretty good old world after all. Yes, with the exception of a few dark blots, like those places where former infamous politicians live.

The man that refuses to leave jail when friends appear and put up the necessary gold, silver or paper standard, is proving that he is at least as well off as he would be outside.

Charleroi can truly appreciate the situation into which Washington was thrown the other night, when their water pump broke. Maybe they will want to take immediate measures to have a duplicate installed.

It's a question of who will get there first in the next race for nomination for president on the Democratic party—Hearst or Bryan.

They've run out of money or something over at Great Britain, and as a result T. P. O'Connor comes from Ireland to raise money for the Irish and Mrs. Parkhurst from England to raise money for the Women's suffrage movement. A while ago they would not have come to the United States for such reasons.

State Health Commissioner Samuel C. Dixon will visit Washington a few days. Please don't let anybody invite him to Charleroi. We have more trouble here now than we know how to get along with.

CAUGHT THE BISHOP.

One Surprise That Was the Forerunner of Another.

That was a good old comedy bishop who one fine day entered a large jeweler's establishment in Regent street, London, to make an extensive purchase of valuable presents. He selected them with great care as regards their artistic value, but quite regardless of cost. The proprietor and his assistants buzzed round his lordship. The selected valuables were packed in separate parcels at his suggestion, neatly tied and sealed, and he had just taken a seat in the private office of the proprietor and was feeling in his pocket for his check book when two men, who had been peering in at the glass door leading to the street, walked up the shop and stood behind the bishop. They were plainly dressed, sharp looking men and thus bluntly addressed the jeweler:

"What has this man been ordering?" The bishop looked up, saw the men, turned pale, clutched the sides of the chair, dropped his glasses and looked as if he would bolt. Before he could stir, however, the handcuffs were on his wrists.

"Bishop, indeed!" said one of the men. "He was a colonel yesterday. Here, 'bishop,' come along to Vine street. 'Bishop,' indeed! Ha, ha! Well, that's a good 'un!" And, turning to the astonished jeweler, he continued: "Just copped him in time, sir; lucky for you. Oh, by the way, you might get one of your assistants to bring round these parcels he has selected. We must enter them at the police station. We have a cab at the door. We have been tracking the bishop all the morning."

Without a word the "bishop" followed the detectives into a cab, and all three got in as the assistant came out with the valuables.

"Here," said one of the detectives through the window, "place those in here—they will be safer—and you get on the top with the driver."

It was not far to Vine street; but, as usual, the traffic was congested in Oxford circus, and the cab had to halt occasionally. It was, however, soon at the police station. The assistant jumped off the driver's seat and opened the door.

The cab was empty!—Straud Magazine.

It Gets the Criminals.

According to the Chinese method of criminal prosecution, a man is responsible for the crime he may have committed personally, but if he chooses to escape justice by running away from the place where the deed was committed then the remaining members of his immediate family are held and punished in lieu of the real culprit. This may seem a strange way of attracting the real criminal back to the scene of his crime, but it appeals to the religious side of the man's superstitious nature. According to their religion, the man who forsakes his parents when in peril will find his soul sailing around through hades without chart or compass for all eternity. In view of this, compliance with the law is very prompt, for John Chinaman does not care to take the desperate chance.

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE ON M. AND W. BRANCH

By the new Pennsylvania Railroad schedule which goes into effect on Sunday, November 7, the Monongahela Chamber of Commerce will adorn its cap with another feather. Among the changes that are to be made is the placing of another train on the M. and W. branch. It will leave Marianna about seven o'clock in the morning, will go to Monongahela and straight through to Pittsburgh, where it will lay over until evening and return, reaching Monongahela about 10:30 p. m. It will then proceed to Marianna, where it will lay over for the night.

This is what the local Chamber of Commerce has been working for and the announcement is received with gratification.

UP-TO-DATE MASSAGE

A Better Way Has been Found Than the Old System.

Is your face your fortune? It often is. Certainly a poor face, which always means an unhealthy one is the greatest misfortune. The first beauty requisite is blooming health of the skin, and fortunately that is now possible for every one. Only two requisites are needed; a cleansing, healing skin food, in connection with massage based on true principles.

The first essential is Crown Cream, as it contains nourishing elements that cannot be had in any other preparation. It can be even be used without massage, and its splendid effect upon skin blotches, pimples and wasted place is little short of magical. Of course its beneficial action can be greatly increased and quickened by the use of massage. Those who do not fully understand this art, will be greatly interested in the Harlan Beauty Cup, with which every woman is at once an expert. It pumps all impurities from the skin's pores, eradicates wrinkles quickly, and by its action in building up the lower skin layers, makes it almost impossible for the wrinkles to return. You should own both these toilet articles now, as we are just entering the most trying seasons of the year for complexion troubles. The price of the Crown Cream is 50c a jar, and the Beauty Cups are 50c each. They may be had of all up-to-date dealers, or will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price by W. F. Henning's Drug Store, corner Fifth and McKean, Charleroi, Pa.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Dr. J. C. Cheney's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

SOMETHING NEW IN RETAIL CLOTHING

100% SAVED

Working men who have small means and have families to support have long looked forward to a place where they could get a suit of clothes, or a pair of pants without giving the retailer two or three times as much as the article is worth, as a margin of profit. But to be fair to the retailer, he is forced to do this; his rent is enormous, his light, help and other necessities compels him to charge the highest of prices.

Now we are on the second floor with only a nominal rent, no light bills to pay and no expensive help, thus we can content ourselves with a fair and reasonable margin of profit.

We have one of the largest warehouses in the west, situated in Chicago, and each week receive a fresh shipment of goods, the best obtainable anywhere, we have over one hundred representatives in the larger cities, whose duty it is to buy good goods cheap for the benefit of our large retail trade. Thus you see the value of an establishment of this kind to the working men.

Our prices of suits range from $2.85 to $9.55, our trousers from 65c to $2.95. If you are in the least interested drop us a line, giving us your exact measurements including chest, waist, length of trousers, etc., and what you are willing to pay and we will send the goods C. O. D., with privilege of examination before payment, if everything is acceptable you can deduct the amount of the express charges from the cost of the suit and forward us the balance. We write this advertisement because we wish to build up a trade composed exclusively of workmen and we believe a plain statement of truth will benefit us the most to that end.

Very truly yours,

THE HORSE BREAKER.

How He Cured a Valuable Animal of a Bad Habit.

The late Duke of Northumberland once purchased a beautiful and valuable horse, but no sooner had his grace begun to use him than he discovered that the horse had one very bad trick—that of suddenly lying down when his rider was on his back. This could not be endured, so he ordered his servant to get the horse properly broken in, says a writer in Chambers' Journal. Accordingly away went the groom to a celebrated horse breaker in the city of Durham and, without mentioning the animal's particular frailty, left him with a general commission to break him in. The next day the teacher of horses rode out on an experimental trip with the duke's favorite and presently found himself gently rolled upon the soil and the horse by his side, very much at his ease.

"Oh," said the horse breaker, not at all embarrassed, "is that your custom?" So he provided himself the next day with several strong stakes and plenty of sound rope and took the unceremonious steed to a large field adjoining Durham cathedral. Riding round and round, the animal, according to his character, soon stretched himself comfortably, rider and all, on the green sods. Without saying a word the horse breaker, getting up, seized upon his wooden stakes, drove them deep and firm into the ground all around the willful brute and then by means of the rope fastened him down exactly in the position chosen by himself, so that neither legs nor body could stir one inch. Of course after a time the horse was willing to get up, but the teacher was willing he should lie still, and there he kept him with plenty of hay and water within reach, for three days and three nights, himself sitting on his back for most of the time, smoking his pipe. The horse never again lay down with his rider on his back.

The Manner in Which It Appeals to the Human Heart.
To those musical agnostics who deny to music any beauties save those of design and maintain that of itself it cannot express ideas and feelings Redfern Mason makes appropriate reply.
But there is another side to the picture. What was it that made George II. rise in his place when they sang the "Hallelujah" chorus, thereby setting an example which is followed to this day? What was it in the finale of the fifth symphony that drew the Napoleonic veteran to his feet with the exclamation, "The emperor?" What sanctity in the Ambrosian hymns moved St. Augustine to tears?

During the wars of the French revolution it was forbidden, on pain of death, to play the "Mars des Vaches" in the hearing of the Swiss soldiers, for so acute a longing for home did it bring upon them that they deserted in hundreds. Are we to think that there was no virtue in the music itself and that the effect produced was the outcome of purely accidental circumstances?

The Austrian government forbade Berlioz to play the "Rakoczy" march at Budapest, fearful of its effect on the inflammable Hungarians. Was the fire of patriotism kindled by the mere knowledge that the melody symbolized Hungary, or did the notes speak with tongues of flame?—Atlantic Monthly.

Olden Tea Table Etiquette.

Tea table etiquette was somewhat complicated in the days of that "hardened and shameless tea drinker," Dr. Johnson, when many people thought nothing of drinking ten or twelve cups at a sitting. It was considered proper for the cups and saucers of a party of tea drinkers to be all passed up to the hostess in one batch when replenishment was considered necessary, and in order that each person might be sure of getting back the right cup the teaspoons were numbered. When the cups were passed up those who did not require any more were supposed to place the spoon in the cup. And this writer remembers a very ancient dame teaching a small boy to place his spoon in his cup after the first cup had been emptied. He pondered for the reason. Now he knows that tea was once very expensive, and little boys were not expected to ask again.—St. James' Gazette.

Her Compliment.

REPUBLICANS

Though an "Off Year" All Indications Point to a Very Substantial Victory at the Polls

WHY REPUBLICANS WILL WIN

Comparison Made Between Work of Two Parties—Word About the Candidates—Senator Penrose, More a National Figure Than Ever, Looks Over Western End of State.

With the general election in this State close at hand all indications point to one of the most decisive victories ever achieved in Pennsylvania by the Republican party. The Republican leaders have gone direct to the voters in every section of the State and no feature of the contest has been neglected or evaded. The great Republican party has given substantial and satisfactory reasons for the public confidence which it asks and now enjoys, and its policies and principles have attracted such a host of followers that it seems certain that the party's majority in the coming election will be swelled far beyond what is generally accepted as an "off year" victory.

Aside from a factional uprising promoted by the political discontents of Philadelphia, the Republican party has gone through the campaign just ending with united front and a confidence that has been encouraging and cheerful. The Philadelphia discontents make a confusing noise to be sure, but that is where they always get on in the political game, and, incidentally, that is where they get off also. Mere sound and fury is their stock in trade. They simply raid their own communities, aiming to throw mud and filth at the regular Republican organization but besmearing only themselves. Their barking attracts little attention. Their bite is without effect.

Even the remnant of the Democracy in the eastern end of the State will have nothing to do with these Philadelphia agitators despite the fact that the Democrats of the State at large are playing in a mimic contest without a semblance of hope, without encouragement from within or without their party, and without sufficient funds to provide State headquarters. Never before in the history of the Democracy in this State has the party of tariff reduction and soup houses been driven to such extremities as it faces in the pending contest. The party finds itself without an issue and without an organization to exploit one if it had one. The case of the Democracy is really desperate and therefore only desperate things are to be expected from those who now have charge of the so-called party and its affairs.

The political layman does not have to search far for substantial reasons for the great Republican success certain to be achieved in this State on November 2. Even if the two political parties stood at equal footing on the important issues of the day, which of course they do not, the campaign methods of the managers of the two parties would supply sufficient and satisfactory reasons for continued Republican victories.

The policy of the Republican party is to build up. That is its great duty under its principles and it is the political architect of this great Nation. Fostering the very best interests of the entire country is its main and dominant purpose. The best interests of all the people all the time is the Republican party's corner-stone and upon that substantial and lasting rock its leaders have builded for all time.

It is not cruel nor even inconsiderate to assert that the Democratic party is organized on the principle of a wrecking corporation. Its main purpose and business appears to be to tear down and destroy. It has no policy other than opposition. It has no principle other than tradition. It seeks power only to overthrow and destroy.

Of course there is not one chance in a thousand of the Democracy coming into power in Pennsylvania at this particular time, largely because there is absolutely no discontent in the Republican party outside of Philadelphia, and the unrest existing there is conceived and at the same time burning itself entirely out, among a few ambitious political self-seekers who want offices, not to advance the party's interests, but to promote their own greed and their own selfish ends.

The Republican State candidates are men who have been tried, having before this been before the public in a prominent way, and under no condition have they been found wanting. Judge Robert von Moschlesker, candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, is now on the bench in Philadelphia and has distinguished himself as a jurist. He is the son of an immigrant of the superior class and possesses rare literary and legal talents. The proud position he occupies tells in eloquent words of the possibilities to be found in this country and his brilliant career testifies forcefully to his inborn integrity and splendid patriotism. There are few stronger characters in Pennsylvania than he and he is greatly admired by all those Moschlesker is being attacked only because of his name.

Senator A. E. Sisson, the Republican candidate for Auditor General, has served several terms in the State Senate and is now the presiding officer of that body. Two years ago when Senator Sisson was re-elected to the Senate from the county of Erie he enjoyed the distinction of being heartily endorsed by the Democrats of his district and with no opposition was re-elected by a tremendous vote. Yet now that he is a candidate for a State office he is being attacked in some quarters as though he were a political outlaw. At his home Senator Sisson is regarded affectionately by his people. He is esteemed by his neighbors as entirely honest and honorable, and in every possible way is looked upon as a distinguished citizen. Those who know him best, at his home and throughout the State, are disposed to resent the assault made upon him by the minnow Democrats who have no authority from their party to be heard.

Former State Senator J. A. Stober is a sturdy, honest Lancaster county German and enjoys the distinction of being the most popular man in his section of the State. Regardless of party the people of Lancaster county are for him. As a public officer he has served them faithfully in the past, and as he is just in his prime now, he is likely to serve them equally well in the future.

Senator Boies Penrose spent the greater part of the last week of the campaign in Pittsburgh. His time there was devoted to making several very interesting speeches and to conferences with the party workers in the western portion of the State. Senator Penrose has developed into the hardest worker the Republican organization in this State has ever known. He stands and fights for party regularity all the time and success and victory naturally follow his determined efforts. The Philadelphia Ledger, in a recent article on the prominent stand taken by Senator Penrose in the framing of the new tariff law, paid him a glowing tribute, advancing him to a foremost position among the statesmen of the Nation.

The Ledger after having referred to the fact that the "policy of protection to home industries" by customs duties upon imports has always had its strongest advocacy from Pennsylvania" remarks that it is fitting that Senator Penrose should now become its foremost exponent. Going on to point out that the industrial interests of this State are such that our public men, even when dissenting from protection upon theory, have always given it more or less practical acquiescence, and alleging that the Republican senators who followed Buckalew and Wallace were protectionists as a matter of course, rather than from considerations of party policy than from any apparent deep-seated conviction, the Ledger declares that Senator Penrose is the first to proclaim boldly the principle of protection embodied in the recently passed tariff law as a permanent national policy, to be adhered to as unflinchingly as the Monroe doctrine. Continuing, the Ledger says:

"Here in Philadelphia, where the textile industries are an important part of the very life of the community, Senator Penrose's persistent and successful work in their behalf can have nothing but applause and the tributes that have been paid to him are well deserved. And knowing the importance of the stability of conditions our manufacturers will further applaud the thought of an unchanging policy. Men who are arguing to one definite point are not bound to consider side issues and it is unnecessary to discuss Senator Penrose's disposition to find in a protective tariff the sole cause of prosperity. Can industry be permanently divorced from commerce? This was found to be too large a subject to be more than glanced at in an after dinner speech, but it grows so inevitably out of the Senator's suggestions that it opens to him a much larger field than that which he so very well covered. If he is to be the champion of a national policy he must be prepared not only for local support but for national attack."

A Bright Boy.

"Now, Tommy," said the teacher "you may give me an example of coinidence."
"Why—er," said Tommy, with some hesitation—"why—er—why, we fadder and me mudder was both married on de same day."—Harper's Weekly.

Polishing a Diamond.

The polishing of a diamond is a very slow process, because of the great hardness of the material. Besides this, the work must be frequently interrupted to allow the disk to cool out after it has become overheated by friction. Each time a new facet is to be cut the diamond must be removed from the dop and reset at another angle, and the diamond cutter trusts to his eye alone to guide him in this delicate adjustment, although in the case of very small diamonds a magnifying glass is necessary. The skill shown in placing the stone in the heated metal, sometimes with the bare hand, is surprising. The regular brilliant has fifty-six facets, besides the table and the collet—thirty-two above the girdle and twenty-four below—but eight facets are first formed, both above and below, each of these being recut into three or four smaller ones, there are considerably more than fifty-six separate surfaces to be cut.—Dr. George F. Kunz in Century.

AN AUTHOR'S STALK.

When Marion Crawford Began His Career as an Author.

Marion Crawford I had known since he was a lad of fourteen years. I, too, was a youngster in those days. We were living in a New Jersey town and he came there to visit his aunt, Mrs. Adolphe Matillard, a sister of Mrs. Anna Ward Howe. Although he came from Italy he dressed as an English lad, with high hat, Eton jacket, wide collar and long trousers. You can imagine the sensation that he made in that quiet New Jersey town. We had had kings and princes as our neighbors, but a young boy in a high hat was unknown to us and therefore much more of a novelty. From those days, which were filled with youthful escapades, I did not see Frank Crawford, as he was then called, until he was a full grown man and had knocked about the world a bit. His uncle, the well known Sam Ward, brought him to the office of the Critic, then consisting of a single small room over Daniel's dry goods store in Broadway, New York. "This lad wants to be a writer," said his Uncle Sam. "I wish that you would give him a chance to learn the business." We gave him the chance, not only for old times' sake, but because we liked his looks. "That fellow can do anything he cares to," I remarked after he left the office. So we let him write. He wrote book reviews, editorials and even poetry, and after that he wrote "Mr. Isaacs." You know the rest. From that on it was easy enough. He won out and we knew that, though we had given him the chance he wanted at the time that he wanted it, he would have found it quick enough anywhere else. But he never forgot what he chose to regard as a favor.—Jeannette L. Guider in L'Espresso.

First Omnibus.

"Omnibus" was an almost brand new word in its modern sense when Shillbeer took it from the French in 1829, and in France the name possessed a special significance for those who knew their history. For from 1672 to 1676 Paris had already seen a regular service of roomy public vehicles, "carrosses a cinq bons." Only these predecessors of the modern bus were not "omnibus"—for all. The letters patent which instituted them for the benefit of middle class people laid down that they were not to be used by soldiers, jackies or any other wearers of livery or artisans and laborers. These exclusive vehicles faded out of existence, and the new ones, which were started in Paris in 1829, were named "omnibus" expressly to signify their democratic character. London Chronicle.

CORRECT SHOES

THIS Shoe Store represents good shoe service as distinguished from mere shoe selling.

GOOD Shoe service means the furnishing of just the correct shoe suited to a particular requirement.

We are able to guarantee good service—in its every sense and every meaning—because we are sure of our own intentions and sure of the quality of our Shoes.

May not we hope that you will test our sincerity and our judgment the next time you purchase Shoes?

BIG HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION IS BEING ARRANGED FOR CHARLEROI NEXT MONDAY

Fantastic and Civic Parade Will be Feature, and It is Expected That a Large Number Will Take Part.

VARIOUS PRIZES

WILL BE AWARDED

Plans for holding a big Halloween celebration are being made at which there will be plenty of good, solid enjoyment, and not the usual heavy destruction of property. The celebration by agreement will be held on Monday evening, and a big parade will be a feature.

The movement towards holding such an affair was started yesterday at the suggestion of some of the business men of town. Both Saturday and Monday were considered as good dates, but the latter was finally selected as the more suitable, from various reasons. Halloween comes on Sunday this year and the celebration of the day had either to be put off a day or held ahead of time.

The feature of the celebration will be the parade. It will be both fantastic and civic, and if plans do not miscarry, will be a large one. It is planned to have the Charleroi Fire Department in line in their parade uniforms and the various Boys' Brigades. Any one may get in line, and it is desired to have all those in fantastic costumes and makeups to participate. In all probability there will be one or more bands secured, and prizes will be awarded to the persons adjudged the best dressed.

There will be a general committee to have charge of the affair, consisting in all probability of George W. Mifflin, John D. Berryman and J. W. McKean. A finance committee, of which John B. Schafer will be the chairman will secure funds, with which to pay the necessary expenses of the celebration.

The committees named above will get to work as soon as possible towards getting matter in shape, and make the celebration the largest affair of the kind ever held in the valley. There was never any attempt at a Halloween celebration conducted in a systematic way in Charleroi, and it is much desired that this first attempt be a success. If this first affair can be made successful, it is likely that it will be made an annual affair, of the same nature as Monongahela's New Year's celebration.

The prizes that will be awarded for the best and most fantastically dressed will be valuable ones, and such as to inspire the various persons.

RIPPED HIS WIFE'S CLOTHES WITH RAZOR

While drunk, J. P. Anderson of Monessen secured a razor, and ripped his wife's clothing all to pieces, except the one wrapper which she had on. He was sentenced to jail by Burgess Reamer of Monessen this morning for 30 days. The man's wife and a neighbor woman appeared against him. Anderson was arrested on the streets yesterday by Officer Zimmers on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. No information was made by his wife, she appearing merely as a witness.

JACK THE PEEPER

WORKS IN MONESSEN

Foreigner is Arrested for Looking in Window of American Home.

Jack the Peeper, in the person of Pete Galori, a foreigner of Monessen, was arrested by the police at that place last night, as he was prowling around the yard of William Robinson on Schoonmaker avenue. The man was peeping in the windows and acting generally strange. This morning he was taken before Burgess Reamer for a hearing and frightened, by the appearance of the court, admitted that he was looking for his girl. Burgess Reamer remarked that it was rather strange for a man to be looking in an American's windows for his foreign girl, and advised him to get married. Galori was discharged.

DRUM'S COUNSEL WITHDRAWS APPEAL

Said That California Man Will Make Restitution to Bank

WARD'S APPEAL HELD OVER

Counsel for Clifford H. Drum, who was recently convicted in the Washington county court of embezzlement with intent to defraud the Coal Centre bank, yesterday afternoon in Superior Court at Philadelphia asked that Drum be allowed to withdraw his appeal to the higher court, and the court granted the petition.

The counsel in asking for the withdrawal said that an agreement had been reached with the Commonwealth that if Drum make restitution of $5,000 the case would be dropped; that restitution had been made and it was now the desire to withdraw the appeal. In the appeal of Ward, the man convicted with Drum, a motion was made and allowed to continue the case until December, it being stated that the question of restitution applied also to him.

A social session will be held following the rendition of the regular program. An invitation is extended to the public in general in which ladies are included.

SHOWING BASEBALL GAMES AT PALACE

Last night Charleroi went practically mad over the life motion pictures of the first world's championship series game between the Pittsburgh National and the Detroit American league teams at the Palace Theatre. Manager R. L. Barnhart had considerable trouble in securing the films, owing to the heavy demands for them, and only got them for the one night. Instead of holding three shows he gave five and every one drew a packed house.

The pictures were fine portrayals of features of the great game at Forbes Field, Pittsburg, and the still greater crowd that attended. Both teams were shown in practice, and the heroes of the Pirates, Honus Wagner, Clark, Babe Adams and others elicited hearty applause as their well known physiognomies in various stages of the game were portrayed. Ty Cobb, as well as Hugh Jennings, were also favorites. One of the striking pictures was the meeting of Wagner and Cobb for the first time on the field.

Clark's home run was shown as well as many individual plays on the field. The vast crowd departing wound up the series which were most interesting and heartily applauded by the big audiences who saw them.

ROSCOE COUNCIL MUST GET DOWN TO BUSINESS AT ONCE

Three Cars Broken Open and Looted

Burglars Operate at California Early Monday Morning

Pennsylvania Railroad detectives are trying to locate persons who early Monday broke open three cars on the siding at California, and took therefrom some clothing, two and a half cases of beer and other articles. The burglary was evidently perpetrated in the early morning, and from evidences the burglars had plenty of time to secure all they wanted, and get away.

DECISION AFFIRMED BY SUPREME COURT

Zollner-Moffitt Case Comes Up Before Higher Bench

Judgement was affirmed yesterday by the Supreme Court in the suit of B. A. Zollner vs. John H. Moffitt, appellant. The suit which grows out of the sales of Zollner's real estate business here, was to recover on a note for $2,000 with interest. The suit was first tried in this county in February, 1908, and a verdict returned for the defendant. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, which reversed the finding of the local court, and sent the case back for retrial. The case was tried last spring, and a verdict returned for Zollner.

GOOD SERVICE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Dr. Huston Begins Second Day of Evangelistic Meetings.

The revival services at the Christian church, under direction of Evangelist Frank C. Huston, are attracting the attention of many of the citizens outside of church people. Prof. Huston is one of the most able of composers and last evening sang his famous, "It Pays to Serve Jesus." This composition was given to the world only about six months ago, but during that time has gained recognition throughout the United States and Canada. It was one of the most popular songs of the Centennial Convention at Pittsburg.

Prof. Huston deserves the hearing of every one in Charleroi interested in sacred song. His visit to Charleroi is an opportunity along the musical line seldom had in this community.

QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER ON FRIDAY EVENING

Nothing more artistically and financially successful has been done for a number of seasons in the way of dramatizing a popular novel than that of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the widely read New England story, which for over six years now has continued to be one of the best selling books in this country. "Quincy Adams Sawyer" in play form will be seen in all the elaborateness of its five country scenes next Friday night at the Coyle Theatre.

Judge McIlvaine Issues Pre-emptory Mandamus Upon Members

HEARING WAS BRIEF ONE

Little Time Consumed by Court in Sensational Affair from Up River

A peremptory mandamus was granted by the court yesterday upon the council at Roscoe, compelling the members to meet on Wednesday evening, November 3, and such times there after as necessary for the performing of the business. If they fail to do this the members of council, George Brown, Alf Thomas, Criss Galle, M. Collins, Samuel Wick and Nelson McKenna, will be haled into court to answer the charge of contempt.

The action against the Roscoe councilmen was brought in the name of the Commonwealth upon the suggestion and complaint of John Werton, John A. Morrison and John Porter. The members of the council have been at loggerheads ever since it came together last March. In the meantime the borough has been running along without practically any transaction of borough business. Judge McIlvaine heard the case, which was a very brief one.

CONCERT COMPANY IS A BIG FEATURE

First Number of Entertainment Course an Attraction of Much Merit

The first number on the Citizens' Entertainment course was given last night at School Hall, when the Gertrude Miller Concert company appeared. The company consisted of four artists, every one of whom had reached the top notch of perfection in their particular line.

Miss Miller herself was the reader, and to say that she showed talent and adaptability is putting it mildly indeed. She was recalled time after time by the audience. While pathos and humor were richly blended, throughout the program, a travesty on New York society high life, depicting a girl's debut, was possibly the best received.

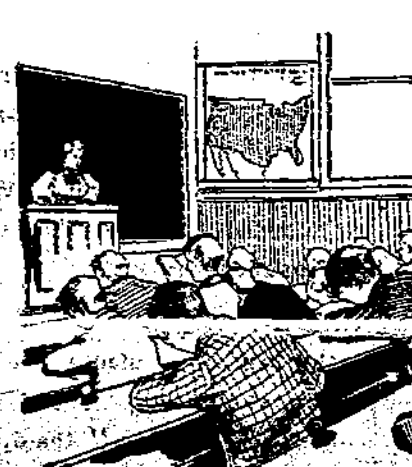

With Miss Miller were Paul V. Archibald, baritone, Miss Ida Miller Smith, mezzo-soprano, and Francois Jores, pianist. Mr. Archibald has a splendid voice, and knows how to use it to the best advantage. The same may be said of Miss Smith, who is indeed a singer of ability. The duets of these two were much enjoyed. The work of the pianist, Mr. Jores was the occasion for many tributes to his ability. His presentation of an etude for the left hand was marvelous.

The next number on the course will be on November 26, when Dr. Edward T. Hagerman, the noted lecturer, will appear.

Brought Big Results.

"Booster Week" at Monongahela, which terminated last Saturday, was productive of surprising results. The "Booster" stores realized in trade beyond the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of new customers were gained and the town profited generally by the effort.

Pull Down the Blinds.

If women were more particular about pulling down the blinds of their houses after dark there would not be so many burglaries, is the timely warning issued by Police Supt. McQuaide of Pittsburgh. By revealing the lighted interior of their homes to watchful thieves and porch climbers outside, this lack of precaution makes the work of the crooks easy. Not only do the latter learn the plan of the house, but they locate valuable plunder as well as to see and know the inmates of the house. Supt. McQuaide particularly warns women to pull down the blinds of the dining room, as those outside can easily see who are at the table and observe their habits. Women's dressing rooms are also closely watched. Many a woman thinks because her dressing room opens on a back or side alley that privacy is not necessary, but Chief McQuaide says these are the places that thieves locate and watch most closely. Through the lighted windows they observe where a woman's jewelry and trinkets are kept, and many thefts are cleverly executed by information thus gained.

It is a common sight in riding on street cars after night to see the lighted interiors of the homes along the routes. These are an easy mark for the "yeggies," who at this season of the year are beginning to be most active. To repeat Supt. McQuaide's warning, "Pull down the blinds."

An Important Election.

In the face of many disquieting circumstances attending the revival of industry and trade, it is most important that these should be allayed in order that the era of prosperity that is now under way should not be interrupted. For this reason the election next Tuesday is an important one. A substantial Republican victory at this particular time will do much to restore the confidence that is lacking, because of the attitude of the west on the tariff question, and pave the way for renewed and more extended industry.

It is therefore important that all Republicans turn out at this election and cast their ballots for the ticket. A decided victory this fall will do much to remove the agitation next year, which will be most disquieting to business, if permitted to gain headway. A light vote this fall will encourage the opponents of protection to redouble their efforts which will only halt business and industry until the matter can be again threshed out in Congress. A decisive victory for the principles of Republicanism that are so essential to the industries of Pennsylvania will give a greater impetus to the prosperous era that is in store for us.

Hallowe'en.

Charleroi has decided to have a public celebration of Hallowe'en next Monday night. A committee of business men are promoting the affair and from an unorganized rabble of noisy roisterers which has hitherto marked the observance of this time honored festival, the carnival spirit will be directed along organized and orderly lines. By this means more fun and enjoyment may be derived from the annual observance of this self-concocted holiday night.

Many towns have adopted the organized Hallowe'en spirit for Hallowe'en with a marked saving to property of the citizens. The ancient custom of devoting the night to pranks and hilarity was perverted by trying to stop it altogether, and this resulted in surreptitious mischief and devilry. It is stated that something is lacking in the human diet which makes men want to drink whisky, use tobacco or take drugs, and the same might be applied in the matter of deportment. Unless the bonds of established conventionality can be loosed in a rational way occasionally, the relaxation is apt to be made surreptitiously at times and places not at all conducive to the well being of all concerned. Therefore license to break the bounds of so-called propriety once in awhile supplies a marked deficiency in the make-up of all mankind and is beneficial all around.

The women's suffrage movement is likely to extend to the bachelor population just as soon as they get a few pretty unmarried ladies interested in the scheme.

Beatrice Fairfax says this is a pretty good old world after all. Yes, with the exception of a few dark blots, like those places where former infamous politicians live.

The man that refuses to leave jail when friends appear and put up the necessary gold, silver or paper standard, is proving that he is at least as well off as he would be outside.

Charleroi can truly appreciate the situation into which Washington was thrown the other night, when their water pump broke. Maybe they will want to take immediate measures to have a duplicate installed.

It's a question of who will get there first in the next race for nomination for president on the Democratic party—Hearst or Bryan.

They've run out of money or something over at Great Britain, and as a result T. P. O'Connor comes from Ireland to raise money for the Irish and Mrs. Parkhurst from England to raise money for the Women's suffrage movement. A while ago they would not have come to the United States for such reasons.

CAUGHT THE BISHOP.

One Surprise That Was the Fore-runner of Another.

That was a good old comedy bishop who one fine day entered a large jeweler's establishment in Regent street, London, to make an extensive purchase of valuable presents. He selected them with great care as regards their artistic value, but quite regardless of cost. The proprietor and his assistants buzzed round his lordship. The selected valuables were packed in separate parcels at his suggestion, neatly tied and sealed, and he had just taken a seat in the private office of the proprietor and was feeling in his pocket for his check book when two men, who had been peering in at the glass door leading to the street, walked up the shop and stood behind the bishop. They were plainly dressed, sharp looking men and thus bluntly addressed the jeweler:

"What has this man been ordering?"
The bishop looked up, saw the men, turned pale, clutched the sides of the chair, dropped his glasses and looked as if he would bolt. Before he could stir, however, the handcuffs were on his wrists.

"Bishop, indeed!" said one of the men. "He was a colonel yesterday. Here, 'bishop,' come along to Vine street. 'Bishop,' indeed! Ha, ha! Well, that's a good 'un!" And, turning to the astonished jeweler, he continued: "Just copped him in time, sir; lucky for you. Oh, by the way, you might get one of your assistants to bring round these parcels he has selected. We must enter them at the police station. We have a cab at the door. We have been tracking the bishop all the morning."

Without a word the "bishop" followed the detectives into a cab, and all three got in as the assistant came out with the valuables.

"Here," said one of the detectives through the window, "place those in here—they will be safer—and you get on the top with the driver."

It was not far to Vine street; but, as usual, the traffic was congested in Oxford circus, and the cab had to halt occasionally. It was, however, soon at the police station. The assistant jumped off the driver's seat and opened the door.

The cab was empty!—Strand Magazine.

It Gets the Criminals.

According to the Chinese method of criminal prosecution, a man is responsible for the crime he may have committed personally, but if he chooses to escape justice by running away from the place where the deed was committed then the remaining members of his immediate family are held and punished in lieu of the real culprit. This may seem a strange way of attracting the real criminal back to the scene of his crime, but it appeals to the religious side of the man's superstitious nature. According to their religion, the man who forsakes his parents when in peril will find his soul sailing around through hades without chart or compass for all eternity. In view of this, compliance with the law is very prompt for John Chinaman does not care to take the desperate chance.

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE

ON M. AND W. BRANCH

By the new Pennsylvania Railroad schedule which goes into effect on Sunday, November 7, the Monongahela Chamber of Commerce will adorn its cap with another feather. Among the changes that are to be made is the placing of another train on the M. and W. branch. It will leave Marianna about seven o'clock in the morning, will go to Monongahela and straight through to Pittsburgh, where it will lay over until evening and return, reaching Monongahela about 10:30 p. m. It will then proceed to Marianna, where it will lay over for the night.

This is what the local Chamber of Commerce has been working for and the announcement is received with gratification.

UP-TO-DATE MASSAGE

A Better Way Has been Found Than the Old System.

Is your face your fortune? It often is. Certainly a poor face, which always means an unhealthy one is the greatest misfortune. The first beauty requisite is blooming health of the skin, and fortunately that is now possible for every one. Only two requisites are needed; a cleansing, healing skin food, in connection with massage based on true principles.

The first essential is Crown Cream, as it contains nourishing elements that cannot be had in any other preparation. It can be even be used without massage, and its splendid effect upon skin blotches, pimples and wasted place is little short of magical. Of course its beneficial action can be greatly increased and quickened by the use of massage. Those who do not fully understand this art, will be greatly interested in the Harlan Beauty Cup, with which every woman is at once an expert. It pumps all impurities from the skin's pores, eradicates wrinkles quickly, and by its action in building up the lower skin layers, makes it almost impossible for the wrinkles to return. You should own both these toilet articles now, as we are just entering the most trying seasons of the year for complexion troubles. The price of the Crown Cream is 50c a jar, and the Beauty Cups are 50c each. They may be had of all up-to-date dealers, or will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price by W. F. Hennings' Drug Store, corner Fifth and McKean, Charleroi, Pa.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it is like a rubber tube through which no air can pass, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars.

THE HORSE BREAKER.

How He Cured a Valuable Animal of a Bad Habit.

The late Duke of Northumberland once purchased a beautiful and valuable horse, but no sooner had his grace begun to use him than he discovered that the horse had one very bad trick—that of suddenly lying down when his rider was on his back. This could not be endured, so he ordered his servant to get the horse properly broken in, says a writer in Chambers' Journal. Accordingly away went the groom to a celebrated horse breaker in the city of Durham and, without mentioning the animal's particular frailty, left him with a general commission to break him in. The next day the teacher of horses rode out on an experimental trip with the duke's favorite and presently found himself gently rolled upon the soil and the horse by his side, very much at his ease.

"Ob," said the horse breaker, not at all embarrassed, "is that your custom?" So he provided himself the next day with several strong stakes and plenty of sound rope and took the unceremonious steed to a large field adjoining Durham cathedral. Riding round and round, the animal, according to his character, soon stretched himself comfortably, rider and all, on the green sward. Without saying a word the horse breaker, getting up, seized upon his wooden stakes, drove them deep and firm into the ground all around the willful brute and then by means of the rope fastened him down exactly in the position chosen by himself, so that neither legs nor body could stir one inch. Of course after a time the horse was willing to get up, but the teacher was willing he should lie still, and there he kept him with plenty of hay and water within reach, for three days and three nights, himself sitting on his back for most of the time, smoking his pipe. The horse never again lay down with his rider on his back.

LANGUAGE OF MUSIC.

The Manner in Which it Appeals to the Human Heart.

To those musical agnostics who deny to music any beauties save those of design and maintain that of itself it cannot express ideas and feelings Redfern Mason makes appropriate reply.

But there is another side to the picture. What was it that made George II. rise in his place when they sang the "Hallelujah" chorus, thereby setting an example which is followed to this day? What was it in the finale of the fifth symphony that drew the Napoleonic veteran to his feet with the exclamation, "The emperor?" What sanctity in the Ambrosian hymns moved St. Augustine to tears?

During the wars of the French revolution it was forbidden, on pain of death, to play the "Ranz des Vaches" in the hearing of the Swiss soldiers, for so acute a longing for home did it bring upon them that they deserted in hundreds. Are we to think that there was no virtue in the music itself and that the effect produced was the outcome of purely accidental circumstances?

The Austrian government forbade Berlioz to play the "Rackoczy" march at Budapest, fearful of its effect on the inflammable Hungarians. Was the fire of patriotism kindled by the melody, knowledge that the melody symbolized Hungary, or did the notes speak with tongues of flame?—Atlantic Monthly.

Golden Tea Table Etiquette.

Tea table etiquette was somewhat complicated in the days of that "hardened and shameless tea drinker," Dr. Johnson, when many people thought nothing of drinking ten or twelve cups at a sitting. It was considered proper for the cups and saucers of a party of tea drinkers to be all passed up to the hostess in one lurch when replenishment was considered necessary, and in order that each person might be sure of getting back the right cup the teaspoons were numbered. When the cups were passed up those who did not require any more were supposed to place the spoon in the cup. And this writer remembers a very ancient dame teaching a small boy to place his spoon in his cup after the first cup had been emptied. He wondered for the reason. Now he knows that tea was once very expensive, and little boys were not expected to ask again.—St. James' Gazette.

BIG SWEEP FOR REPUBLICANS

Though an "Off Year" All Indications Point to a Very Substantial Victory at the Polls

WHY REPUBLICANS WILL WIN

Comparison Made Between Work of Two Parties—Word About the Candidates—Senator Penrose, More a National Figure Than Ever, Looks Over Western End of State.

With the general election in this State close at hand all indications point to one of the most decisive victories ever achieved in Pennsylvania by the Republican party. The Republican leaders have gone directly to the voters in every section of the State and no feature of the contest has been neglected or evaded. The great Republican party has given substantial and satisfactory reasons for the public confidence which it asks and now enjoys, and its policies and principles have attracted such a host of followers that it seems certain that the party's majority in the coming election will be swelled far beyond what is generally accepted as an "off year" victory.

Aside from a factional uprising promoted by the political discontents of Philadelphia, the Republican party has gone through the campaign just ending with united front and a confidence that has been encouraging and cheerful. The Philadelphia discontents make a confusing noise to be sure, but that is where they always get on in the political game, and, incidentally, that is where they get off also. Mere sound and fury is their stock in trade. They simply raid their own communities, aiming to throw mud and filth at the regular Republican organization but besmearing only themselves. Their barking attracts little attention. Their bite is without effect.

Even the remnant of the Democracy in the eastern end of the State will have nothing to do with these Philadelphia agitators despite the fact that the Democrats of the State at large are playing in a mimic contest without a semblance of hope, without encouragement from within or without their party, and without sufficient funds to provide State headquarters. Never before in the history of the Democracy in this State has the party of tariff reduction and soup houses been driven to such extremities as it faces in the pending contest. The party finds itself without an issue and without an organization to exploit one if it had one. The case of the Democracy is really desperate and therefore only desperate things are to be expected from those who now have charge of the so-called party and its affairs.

The political layman does not have to search far for substantial reasons for the great Republican success certain to be achieved in this State on November 2. Even if the two political parties stood at equal footing on the important issues of the day, which of course they do not, the campaign methods of the managers of the two parties would supply sufficient and satisfactory reasons for continued Republican victories.

The policy of the Republican party is to build up. That is its great duty under its principles and it is the political architect of this great Nation. Fostering the very best interests of the entire country is its main and dominant purpose. The best interests of all the people all the time is the Republican party's corner-stone and upon that substantial and lasting rock its leaders have builded for all time.

It is not cruel nor even inconsiderate to assert that the Democratic party is organized on the principle of a wrecking corporation. Its main purpose and business appears to be to tear down and destroy. It has no principle other than tradition. It seeks power only to overthrow and destroy.

Of course there is not one chance in a thousand of the Democracy coming into power in Pennsylvania at this particular time, largely because there is absolutely no discontent in the Republican party outside of Philadelphia, and the unrest existing there is conceived and at the same time burning itself entirely out among a few ambitious political self-seekers who want offices, not to advance the party's interests, but to promote their own greed and their own selfish ends.

The Republican State candidates are men who have been tried, having before this been before the public in a prominent way, and under no condition have they been found wanting. Judge Robert von Moschzisker, candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, is a man of the highest caliber in Philadelphia and has distinguished himself as a jurist. He is the son of an immigrant of the superior class, and possesses rare literary and legal talents. The proud position he occupies tells in eloquent words of the possibilities to be found in this country and his brilliant career testifies forcefully to his inborn integrity and splendid patriotism. There are few stronger characters in Pennsylvania than he and he is greatly admired by all those who enjoy an acquaintance with him. By the smaller Democrats Judge von Moschzisker is being attacked only because of his name.

Senator A. E. Sisson, the Republican candidate for Auditor General, has served several terms in the State Senate and is now the presiding officer of that body. Two years ago when Senator Sisson was re-elected to the Senate from the county of Erie he enjoyed the distinction of being heartily endorsed by the Democrats of his district and with no opposition was re-elected by a tremendous vote. Yet now that he is a candidate for a State office he is being attacked in some quarters as though he were a political outlaw. At his home Senator Sisson is regarded affectionately by his people. He is esteemed by his neighbors as entirely honest and honorable, and in every possible way is looked upon as a distinguished citizen. Those who know him best, at his home and throughout the State, are disposed to resent the assault made upon him by the minor Democrats who have no authority from their party to be heard.

Former State Senator J. A. Stober, a Democrat, and enjoys the distinction of being the most popular man in his section of the State. Regardless of party the people of Lancaster county are for him. As a public officer he has served them faithfully in the past, and as he is just in his prime now he is likely to serve them equally well in the future.

Senator Boies Penrose spent the greater part of the last week of the campaign in Pittsburgh. His time there was devoted to making several very interesting speeches and to conferences with the party workers in the western portion of the State. Senator Penrose has developed into the hardest worker the Republican organization in this State has ever known. He stands and fights for party regularity all the time and success and victory naturally follow his determined efforts. The Philadelphia Ledger, in a recent article on the prominent stand taken by Senator Penrose in the framing of the new tariff law, paid him a glowing tribute, advancing him to a foremost position among the statesmen of the Nation.

The Ledger after having referred to the fact that the "policy" of protection to home industries by customs duties upon imports has always had its strongest advocacy from Pennsylvania remarks that it is fitting that Senator Penrose should now become its foremost exponent. Going on to point out that the industrial interests of this State are such that our public men, even when dissenting from protection upon theory, have always given it more or less practical acquiescence, and alleging that the Republican senators who followed Buckalew and Wallace were protectionists as a matter of course, rather than from considerations of party policy than from any apparent deep-seated conviction, the Ledger declares that Senator Penrose is the first to proclaim boldly the principle of protection embodied in the recently passed tariff law as a permanent national policy, to be adhered to as unflinchingly as the Monroe doctrine. Continuing, the Ledger says:

"Here in Philadelphia, where the textile industries are an important part of the very life of the community, Senator Penrose's persistent and successful work in their behalf can have nothing but applause and the tributes that have been paid to him are well deserved. And knowing the importance of the stability of conditions our manufacturers will further applaud the thought of an unchanging policy. Men who are arguing to one definite point are not bound to consider side issues and it is unnecessary to discuss Senator Penrose's disposition to find in a protective tariff the sole cause of prosperity. Can industry be permanently divorced from commerce? This was found to be too large a subject to be more than glanced at in an after dinner speech, but it grows so inevitably out of the Senator's suggestions that it opens to him a much larger field than that which he so very well covered. If he is to be the champion of a national policy he must be prepared not only for local support but for national attack."

A Bright Boy.

"Now, Tommy," said the teacher "you may give me an example of coinidence."

"Why—er," said Tommy, with some hesitation—"why—er—why, me fadder and me mudder was both married on de same day."—Harper's Weekly.

Polishing a Diamond.

The polishing of a diamond is a very slow process, because of the great hardness of the material; besides this, the work must be frequently interrupted to allow the disk to cool, after it has become overheated by friction. Each time a new facet is to be cut the diamond must be removed from the dop and reset at another angle, and the diamond cutter trusts to his eye alone to guide him in this delicate adjustment, although in the case of very small diamonds a magnifying glass is necessary. The skill shown in placing the stone in the heated metal, sometimes with the bare hand, is surprising. The regular brilliant has fifty-six facets, besides the table and the collet—thirty-two above the girdle and twenty-four below—but eight facets are first formed: both above and below, each of these being cut into three or four smaller ones, there are considerably more than fifty separate surfaces to be cut.—Dr. George F. Kunz in Century.

AN AUTHOR'S STORY.

When Marion Crawford Began His Career as an Author.

Marion Crawford I had known since he was a lad of fourteen years. I, too, was a youngster in those days. We were living in a New Jersey town and he came there to visit his aunt, Mrs. Annetta Minard, a sister of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Although he came from Italy he dressed as an English lad, with high hat, Eton jacket, wide collar and long trousers. You can imagine the sensation that he made in that quiet New Jersey town. We had had kings and princes as our neighbors, but a young boy in a high hat was unknown to us and therefore much more of a novelty. From those days, which were filled with youthful escapades, I did not see Frank Crawford, as he was then called, until he was a full grown man and had knocked about the world a bit. His uncle, the well known Sam Ward, brought him to the office of the Critic, then consisting of a single small room over Daniel's dry goods store in Broadway, New York. "This lad wants to be a writer," said his Uncle Sam. "I wish that you would give him a chance to learn the business." We gave him the chance, not only for old time's sake, but because we liked his looks. "That fellow can do anything he cares to," I remarked after he left the office. So we let him write. He wrote book reviews, editorials and even poetry, and after that he wrote "Mr. Isaacs." You know the rest. From that on it was easy enough. He won out and we knew that, though we had given him the chance he wanted at the time that he wanted it, he would have found it quick enough anywhere else. But he never forgot what he chose to regard as a favor.—Jeannette L. Glider in Putnam's.

First Omnibus.

"Omnibus" was an almost brand new word in its modern sense when Shillibeer took it from the French in 1829, and in France the name possessed a special significance for those who knew their history, for from 1672 to 1676 Paris had already seen a regular service of roomy public vehicles, "carrosses a cinq sous." Only these predecessors of the modern bus were not "omnibus"—for all. The letters patent which instituted them for the benefit of middle class people laid down that they were not to be used by soldiers, lackeys or any other wearers of livery or artisans and laborers. These exclusive vehicles faded out of existence, and the new ones, which were started in Paris in 1829, were named "omnibus" expressly to signify their democratic character. London Chronicle.
